About Myself and My Ideas（模範例）

My name is Hanako.　Today, I'm going to tell you about myself and some ideas that I have in mind. First, I'll talk about myself.　I am 18 years old, and I was born and brought up in Sapporo.　I'm very interested in English, so I'm working really hard on learning it.　Someday, I would like to visit America and Britain after graduating from high school.　I like English because I want to know more about foreign countries and their ways of life.　I know that English is an international language, and if we can speak it well, we can communicate with almost everyone in the world.　So English seems very attractive to me, and the importance that English has makes me feel that I need it very much.　Also, I have a plan to enter a university and want to learn more about English.　In university, I want to brush up my communicative skills in English, and hopefully I will become an English teacher at high school.（60 秒）

Next, I want to talk about the environmental issues.　In English class, I learned that the world is facing many environmental problems.　One of them is CO2, carbon dioxide.　I think that CO2 is bad for the environment, so we should stop using fossil fuels to prevent the problems such as global warming.　Firstly, we should stop using gasoline.　For example, we need gasoline when we drive cars.　If we use buses more instead of cars, we can reduce the use of gasoline.　Moreover, if we walk or ride bicycles, we can reduce gasoline usage much more.　Secondly, we should use solar energy.　For instance, we can put solar panels on our houses for electricity.　If we more use solar energy instead of using coal and oil, we can reduce CO2 more.　In addition, we can sell electricity when we have more than we need, so we can save more money.　In conclusion, by using public transportation and solar power, we can reduce the use of fossil fuels greatly.　And also, we will be able to solve global warming caused by CO2 if we change our way of thinking and take action for better environment.（1 分 15 秒）

Finally, let's think about how to find solutions over again.　I have heard that it is almost impossible to solve the big problem like global warming.　That may be because there are over 7 billion people on the earth today and the world population is still increasing.　It is true the increase is part of the problem, but that 7 billion people might help us find the solution.　If all of us think about the problem, each one of us might come up with a good idea.　And if we work together and share the good ideas, we might successfully get to the solution.　So, I believe that we should use both English and the Internet well, and make us connected globally to save the Earth.（45 秒）合計 3 分以上
※この 3 分スピーチ（プレゼン）のインパクト（重要度）は "英語は地球を救う！" です。